

Music Midtown Festival

Atlanta - Ralph McGill and Pine streets (from Piedmont Avenue to Bedford Place)

In the past decade Atlanta's Music Midtown Festival has kept its pledge of providing an annual affordable and varied musical experience for the masses; close to 300,000 people now pack into the huge festival grounds in central Atlanta over the three-day festival period to hear noted performers like Joe Cocker and Bob Dylan do their thing on one of the ten performance stages. Along with plenty of food and drink, the event is the city's biggest party.
